

“Presenting your research - professional presentation skills for science and technology”

Date: Tuesday, 9 + Wednesday, 10 May 2017
Time: 09:30 - 17:30 incl. lunch break (1hr.)
Location: Seminarraum 125
Gußhausstr. 27-29, Stiege 1, 2. Stock
Trainers: Sue Norris M.Ed. B.A.
Mag. Andrea Steiner B.A.
Target group: This seminar is open to women master's students
& graduates (pre-doc, post-doc), as well as to both men and women “genderfair” cooperation partners.
Priority will be given to women.

Aims:

Get ready to go public and show off your work in science and technology:

- present your research in the best possible light
 - update your presentation technique
 - confidently address a roomful of people
- ... and improve your ability to express yourself in English at the same time.

Content:

- efficient planning and preparation
- effective visualization
- reaching your audience and handling their questions
- getting your message across clearly
- using phrases that work

Working methods:

In this practical workshop you will make 3 presentations on topics from your field of work, with extensive support and detailed, individual feedback.

In addition to upgrading your public speaking skills, 2 days of intensive exchange with your colleagues and trainers will give you realistic practice of working in an international environment.

If you are working on a presentation, bring it along!

Individual coaching will be available to participants as a follow-up to the seminar, e.g. when preparing to present a paper at a conference at a later date.
